COME TO THE WOODLANDS.

Poetry by MRS BARNETT.

Music by JAMES G. BARNETT.

VOICE. ALLEGRETTO.

PIANO

FORTE.

Come to the Woodlands e're summer be flown, Ere the trees lose their verdure, the roses their bloom, Come while the zephyr's of ev'ning are light, Come while the heavens are starry and bright.

Come to the Woodland I'll list to thee there, Where no ec...ho may steal on the tran...quil air, When the song birds are si...lent in bow'r and grove And no voice..... but thine own, Breathes its whis..... per, of love, Cal... lau... do. Tempo. Breathes its whis... per of love!... Oh ling-er not here but a-far let us roam, Where love makes a heav'n of the sweet Woodland home, Come while the zephyrs of ev'ning are light,

Come while the heav'n's are starry and bright, Come while the heav'n's are starry and bright, Come while the heav'n's are star-ry and bright.

p In the tumult of ci-ties love's rap-ture is still'd, And the pas-sionate glow of the warm heart is chill'd, And sadness will steal to hopes beau-tiful brow, And o'er her sweet musings its dark shadows throw, Then come ere the smile of the

p

sun-mer shall fade, Where flow'rs and sun shine their bright home have made & thine eye shall resume its af-fec-tio-nate ray, And no im-press of gloom on thy brow love shall stay, on thy brow love shall stay! Oh ling-er not here but a.. far let us roam, Where do. Tempo.

love makes a heav'n of the sweet Woodland home, Come while the zephyrs of ev'ning are light, Come while the heav'n's are starry and bright,

Come while the heav'n's are starry and bright, Come while the heav'n's are star...ry and bright.
